At four years old, Haylee Dove stepped onto a Nashville stage for the first time and knew she had found what she was made for. As she came up performing alongside family musicians, she saw her fair share of both sold-out shows and local farmers markets, all sculpting her to be the confident and versatile performer she is today.

Now an active presence in the Richmond music scene, Haylee performs regularly as a solo artist and duo act, sings backup in several local bands, contributes to studio recordings, and writes original music. Her performances are known for strong vocals, warm stage presence, and an ability to read and energize any room.

With an expansive setlist of country music and more, Haylee is the perfect fit for any festival, backyard party, cocktail hour, restaurant, rodeo, or beyond. Haylee brings professionalism, laughter, and undeniable soul to every stage. Not only will she love every second, but so will you.
